

Connect to Better Health

Your family's health and safety are always on your mind. Connecting to CurrentCare can help you stay on top of the details.

CurrentCare is a secure electronic network that keeps your medical records completely private. When an authorized doctor needs critical, up-to-date information, it's there to help ensure your family's best health.

Doctors already share your health care information by phone, fax, email and US mail. CurrentCare simply makes sharing easier, faster and safer. And, thanks to our generous community partners, CurrentCare is free for you and your family.

Enroll today at:
www.CurrentCareRI.org

CurrentCare is a service of

Rhode Island  Quality Institute

How can CurrentCare work for your family?

Imagine the benefits of an electronic health history that includes lab results, medications and doctor or hospital visits:

- Your child gets one less unnecessary, painful needle stick when results are in CurrentCare – no need to repeat that test.
- Your mother doesn't carry a bag full of medications to every office visit.
- Your spouse's primary care doctor knows about today's ER visit – now.
- You save a $20-$30 copayment for each duplicate test you avoid – perhaps hundreds for some procedures – not to mention the value of your time!

Participation is completely voluntary. You decide who will have access to view your information. Health insurance companies, law enforcement officials, your employer and others cannot see any information in CurrentCare.

Nearly 1 in 3 Rhode Islanders have enrolled already. Enroll today!

Connect to better, safer care:
www.CurrentCareRI.org